Death is not the evil that many believe it to be. So many of us do whatever we can to avoid it for as long as possible. We even grasp at straws sometimes to keep death away from us, but death is not the enemy. It takes us when our bodies are no longer prepared to carry on our current lives. It brings us peace and freedom from pain as God has planned. It is life that is often the enemy. The siren that convinces us to hold onto it as long as we can, even though we are filled with pain. We should let or life leave us when it is time an do it gladly instead of with sorrow and bitterness. Jesus wants us and when we arrive we will wonder what it was that held us back so long. With joy we lived our lives with Faye through good times and bad. Her love for us and ours for her has and will always be. Faye will forever live in our hearts. No one will ever be able to replace her in our lives.

Faye is preceded in death by her husband Larry Wright, her daughter Karen

Sue Ash two grandsons Gerald Phillip Ash and Larry Jennings Ash Jr. A grand daughter Julie Gene Ash, her five sisters, and her parents Effie and Walter.
