“ Having you as my grandpa was a blessing. You were so ornery, and loved that I was too. You used to take me with you into town when I was five or six year old, and would have me say the word "bullshit" to your friends when they were telling stories!!! You were such a bad influence, and I loved it. You never judged me for when I stumbled, you loved me unconditionally. You were a lover of pie, and of telling children stories that would rile them up and get them going. Thank you for being such a huge part of my life grandpa, and I love you and miss you already.

“ Ruth and family, very sorry to hear of Tiny's passing. This man will be missed by all whoever had the chance to meet him. He could keep you in stitches for days, I don't think I ever heard him tell the same joke twice. Rest in peace my friend

“ When I was 12 I went and spent the weekend with Uncle Tootie, he lived in Greenwood at the time. We were down in the pasture, and he was practicing pulling ponies, he was going to have Pete hook the sled, and right when he went to hook them, the ponies jumped and pulled Pete face down in the mud. With one arm on the reigns, Uncle Tootie pulled both ponies over on their backs for doing that to Pete. I was amazed of the strength in that man.

“ When I was young, he told me over and over not to ride his atubborn pony. She threw me off. Loved being at his farm.
